

INVESTING in What Matters Most

How the generosity of our community is strengthening health care – close to home.

Exceptional Care Begins with Community.

At CalvertHealth, generosity is more than a tradition — it is the driving force behind innovation, expanded access and a stronger future for health care in Southern Maryland. As an independent, not-for-profit health system, we rely on a partnership of individuals, families, businesses and community leaders who believe in our mission and invest in care close to home.

In 2025, that support translated into meaningful impact — from advanced diagnostic technology and expanded orthopedic services to medical scholarships, youth philanthropy and community outreach connecting vulnerable residents to essential care. This collective generosity was reflected in 4,019 gifts from 1,486 donors, resulting in $1.2 million in cash and pledges and an additional $4.2 million in grant funding — a remarkable $5.4 million in total support for CalvertHealth Foundation last year. These contributions strengthened programs, expanded services and ensured compassionate, high-quality care for every patient who turns to CalvertHealth.

A Celebrated Return

In November 2025, the CalvertHealth Foundation welcomed 312 guests to a sold-out gala at Rod 'N' Reel Resort in Chesapeake Beach—marking the return of its signature benefit event. The evening raised more than $475,000 in support of the upcoming full renovation of the CalvertHealth Family Birth Center, which is slated to begin later this year. Planned enhancements include updated, spa-like amenities, LDPR room options, enhanced security and family-centered spaces designed to elevate the maternity experience for families throughout Southern Maryland.

Chaired by CalvertHealth Foundation board member, Tamika Tremaglio, the gala returned to Calvert County at the request of supporters and reflected the community's strong commitment to advancing care close to home. Guests enjoyed fine dining curated by Michelin-rated chef Robert Wiedmaier and the Rod 'N' Reel's own Executive Chef Kyung Soo Carroll, live and silent auctions and entertainment throughout the evening. A highlight of the program came when Kasia Sweeney, Senior Vice President of Strategy & Transformation, honored retired OB providers who played foundational roles in creating and expanding the Family Birth Center. Their leadership and commitment helped shape the high-quality, compassionate maternity care CalvertHealth is known for today—and their legacy will continue to guide the work ahead. In that spirit, the evening celebrated a powerful continuum—honoring the past while investing in the future of family-centered care, close to home.

Leadership in Action

The CalvertHealth Foundation is pleased to welcome two new members to its Board of Trustees—Cheryl Bare and James “Jim” Fleshman—whose professional expertise and commitment to community service will help advance the Foundation’s mission in meaningful ways.

Cheryl Bare, an accomplished educator turned award-winning real estate professional with Century 21 New Millennium, brings a deep passion for community engagement. Recognized as Charles County Educator of the Year and named Top Producing Individual Realtor in Maryland for 10 consecutive years, Cheryl also led one of the state’s top-ranked real estate teams for three years running. She resides in Owings with her husband, Jimmy.

Jim Fleshman joins the board with extensive experience in financial strategy as a CPA and Tax Director at Lombardo Ayers & Company, LLC. In addition to his leadership roles with the Calvert County Chamber of Commerce and the Calvert County Compensation Review Board, Jim has supported the Foundation as a guest presenter for the Financial Wellness Series, offering insights on year-end giving and tax strategies. He lives in Huntingtown with his wife, Candice.

This year also marks an important leadership transition. The Foundation proudly introduces Barry Friedman as the new Chair of the Foundation Board of Trustees. Barry’s longstanding dedication to CalvertHealth and his commitment to strengthening access to care close to home make him an invaluable leader during this exciting period of growth.

We also extend our heartfelt appreciation to Frank Smith, who has completed his term as Board Chair after years of extraordinary service. Frank will continue to lend his experience as Immediate Past President, serving as an ex officio member of the board.

“The impact of our mission is measured not only in progress but in the lives we uplift. With this momentum, we continue shaping the future of health care in our community.”
